QUALITY

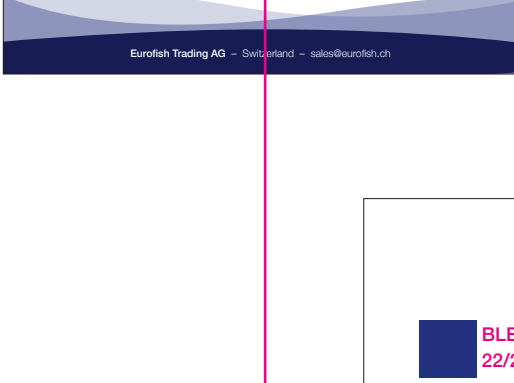

THE COLD CHAIN

From the sea floor to the customer's door. We control the temperature at which our products are maintained from the transfer to the consumer. The whole round fish from the transfer is chilled in refrigerated seawater baskets, graded by size and put in freezers. It is then packed in strong cartons and stored in the freezing holds.

We continue to monitor the temperatures during unloading from the transfer, where regular inspections of consignments are conducted. Our experts control the sublimation cold supply chain all the way from the transfer to the final destination.

OUR VALUES

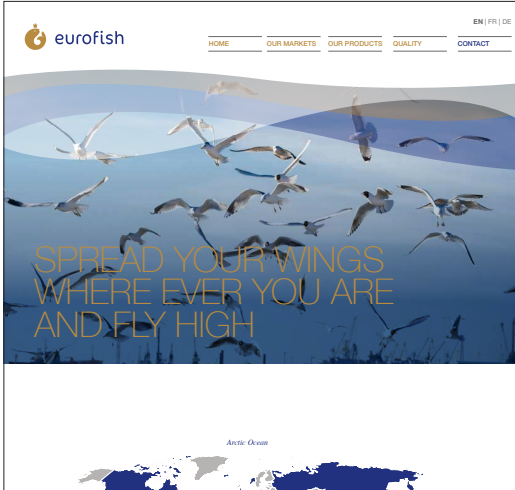

The quality of our products and services are fundamental principles of our business. Our brand is a guarantee of excellence. Certified product quality begins with a clear understanding of our requirements by our suppliers. Therefore, our customers can be sure that their fish was frozen on board of the transfer, in the shortest possible time after the catch, to guarantee the best quality.
